

LIFESTYLE LANDSCAPES

King's Landscaping is a Geelong-based company with a passion for creating stylish and timeless outdoor spaces

For more than 10 years, Geelong-based landscape design and construction company King's Landscaping have been transforming the backyards and gardens throughout the region. Their projects range from simple makeovers and driveways to complete lifestyle packages of outdoor kitchens, swimming pool landscapes and construction projects feature and retaining walls, all with an innovative and individual finish.

If it's a special look you're after, Jason King and his team take great pride in the fact that their adaptability in their design approach ensures you get exactly the look and style you are after and that your garden looks unlike any other.

With a team of staff numbering up to 15 full and part time professionals to help you create your ideal outdoor space, King's Landscaping produce all of their designs in-house which gives you the comfort of knowing that when it comes to the physical work, they fully understand what the end result will be. Being registered builders also assures that all work is carried out to the highest standards of design, construction and maintenance of spaces that are stylish, timeless and lifestyle-driven.

Working throughout Geelong, the Surf Coast and Bellarine Peninsula results in their understanding of different landscapes and styles. Whether it be the refined and heritage style of Newtown, the sandy and salty coastline from Pt Lonsdale to Torquay or the rural hills of Ceres, Kings Landscaping can create an environment that is suited to its surroundings.

From the initial consultation Jason and his team will work their way through your garden and talk about how you want to use the space. They take your ideas, favourite images and wish list to establish a style and brief for the project. They will then produce a concept plan which provides you with your first visual of your new outdoor area, taking in all the features such as a swimming pool and deck and pergola landscaping. It includes a floor plan and selected elevations to scale, chosen materials, a recommended plant list and lighting plan.

Working drawings are then produced when major structural elements such as a pool or outdoor room start to take shape during the conceptual process. The working drawings consider building codes and local government regulations, and are used for construction stage. 3D drawings can also bring the plan to life and help to visualise or refine the design. King's Landscaping will then arrange council permits, soil reports and engineering specifications to prepare for construction of your landscaping project.

One of the largest projects undertaken by King's Landscaping was last year broadcast on the Seven Network's lifestyle program Best Houses Australia. The landscape project in the Highton hills took six months of design work and about nine months to complete and plenty of sweat, mud and what seemed like endless barrows of dirt. Set on over an acre, the team transformed the grounds of an old dairy farm into a heritage style, family-focused outdoor space, featuring a concrete swimming pool, terrace with fire pit, soccer pitch, roundabout driveway with water feature and terraced gardens for viewing and entertaining.

As the reputation of King's Landscaping has grown, so too has their reach, which now extends to commercial properties and the company's expansion throughout Victoria.

Put simply, King's Landscaping build beautiful gardens.
